'news and nonsense spiced with nerve'

Vol. 65 No. 17 | EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY | Thursday, February 9, 1967

President Harold Sponberg welcomed freshmen and transfers Sunday in Pease Auditorium.

President Welcomes Class of 1971

Emphasizing the responsibility of new students to "make a full commitment to college life, academically and in co-curricular activities," President Harold E. Sponberg welcomed the class of '71 and an influx of transfers last Sunday with his semi-annual President's Welcome in Pease Auditorium.

Dr. Sponberg also stressed a complete education in his half-hour address to the hundred or so new students who braved the afternoon snow storm: "We are in the process of creating an educational climate which will prepare youngsters to live and work all over the world."

This world, according to the president, must be handled delicately because it is generally a non-white, non-Christian, non-literate world.

He pointed proudly to Eastern's capabilities to handle the rapidly changing needs of education: "We are an institution that makes use of all our resources to the best of our ability."

While addressing the students, Sponberg also had encouraging words for the parents in attendance. He warned them to prepare for the day when their college-age children would "undergo behavioral changes like not visiting the barber as often." But, he added in pacifying tones, "our chief aim is to mold young men and women towards productive and responsible citizenship."

The President went on to explain that a student must work at his education. "The door providing an opportunity to study, learn, grow, and mature is open." And according to a fundamental principle in U.S. society, "an equal opportunity exists to make a go of it...making it equally easy to succeed or fail for all."

What we provide is a chance to take this chance."

Steve Landers, Student Council President, served as master-of-ceremonies among the dignitaries Sunday.

He reflected much of the same hope for the future of the new students as did the president, whom Landers introduced as "a great friend.

Regents Accept Grant; Residence Halls Named

The Board of Regents of Eastern Michigan University started the new semester by awarding contracts, appointing new faculty members, accepting grants, and naming buildings at a meeting on February 2.

The Regents awarded the C.D. Lewis Co. of Lincoln Park a $546,850 contract for the construction of 45 student apartments on EMU's West Campus.

The Board said that the Lewis Company's base bid of $549,000 was the lowest of the 17 bids received. Alternate items authorized by the Regents raised the final contract price by $17,850.

The student apartments are the second major construction project authorized by the Regents for the West Campus in the past four months. In November, construction began on new University athletic facilities at the 140-acre site at a cost of $539,155.

The student apartments are scheduled for occupancy in September. They are of the townhouse type, with bedrooms over the living room, and with each unit having a front and back yard. Half of the units will have two bedrooms and the others will have one bedroom.

The total budget for the 45 units will be $668,450. This will include actual construction costs, a utility assessment, architectural fees, legal and financing costs, interest charges, supervision, a contingency fund and furnishings. The project will be financed through revenue bonds, to be paid for by rental fees.

The Regents named the Ann Arbor Trust Co. as fiscal agent for the project. The University administration was authorized to request permission from the Legislature to raise the total project cost from the $630,000 authorized to the final $688,450 figure.

The Regents also authorized the purchase of property at 1065 Newton from Robert Sudman for $26,000.

The Regents accepted a $9,043 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for a research project in selective learning. The project is to last for one year and will be administered by M. Paul Willis, associate professor of psychology.

Nine new appointments to the EMU faculty and two transfers to the Somali Project were approved at the meeting.

Clinton E. Thomas, associate professor of physics and astronomy, and Quirico Samonte, assistant professor of education, were transferred to the Somali Project effective June 1.

Thomas and Samonte will serve on the faculty of the National Teacher Education Center at Afgoi, Republic of Somalia. The Center is operated by EMU under a contract with the Somali government, and is sponsored by the Agency for International Development.

The new appointments included Judith Owen as instructor to the Department of English Language and Literature, Alice J. Chindblom as instructor to Lincoln School, Lois Cohen, Ronald English, William McLean and Michael Madigan as instructors to the Department of English Language and Literature, and Jerald A. Griess, associate professor, Department of Industrial Education on Sept. 1, Arthur Harris, assistant professor, and John D. Cormican as instructor in the Department of English Language and Literature on Sept. 1.

The Regents named Claude I. Shell Jr., presently chairman of the Department of Management at Southern Illinois University, as head of the Department of Management at EMU to be effective June 15.

Shell will be the department's first permanent head since the formation of the College of Business in 1964, the Department of Management has operated with acting heads.

Dr. Earl Roth, dean of EMU's College of Business said that Shell "has a rare combination of academic preparation in management, together with a thorough understanding of the problems of business and industry. I am most happy to have him join us. His appointment will greatly aid the College of Business in serving the needs of business and industry in this area."

Shell received his bachelor's degree in economics from Maryville College in 1947, his master's in marketing from the University of Tennessee in 1949, and his Ph.D. in management and college administration from Southern Illinois University in 1966.

Shell served as a faculty member in the Department of Business Administration at Tennessee Technical University for six years, was assistant director of the Small Business Institute for five years, and served one year as assistant director of the University Placement Service at Southern Illinois.

Shell also serves on the Board of Directors of Business Opportunities for the Blind, Inc., in Chicago.

At Southern Illinois, Shell organized and conducted non-credit courses and seminars for salaried and non-salaried personnel in business and industry.

The Regents named Prof. Eugene M. Gibson of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature as acting head of the department.

Gibson will replace J. Henry

Echo Revamps Staff

The Eastern Echo announces that two newly created positions and three vacant staff positions have been filled for the spring semester.

Ronald Sevold was appointed Publications Manager. Arnie Rubin now holds the assistant editorship.

The three vacancies filled were Tim Hoover, Business Manager; Dean Stanley, Advertising Manager; and Roger Bjorkdahl, Photography editor.

The temporary position of Publications Manager was filled by Ron Sevold. Sevold will be responsible for the operations of the Aurora, Concepts, and Echo. It is his job to establish goals for the future and determine how the present structure can be improved. His objective is a high-quality publication which will publish twice weekly.

A senior majoring in Management, Sevold began work on the Echo in 1965, as Business Manager.

After a leave of absence, Arnie Rubin is returning as assistant editor. Starting as a freshman, Rubin has worked his way from reporter to assistant news editor to news editor and now assumes his new position.

Tim Hoover is a graduate student in Business Administration. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army last June.

Hoover will be in charge of all business functions including circulations, payroll, and purchasing. He is also in charge of the advertising staff. Hoover worked as assistant advertising manager last spring and Advertising Manager this fall.

Advertising manager Dean Stanley was appointed this semester after working as an advertising salesman last fall. He directs a staff of five advertising salesmen.

Stanley is in the advanced ROTC program holding the position of company commander with the rank of captain. He is majoring in General Business and is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi.

Roger Bjorkdahl, a freshman from Livonia, is the new photography editor in charge of all pictures for the paper. He has his own darkroom at home and has four year's experience to his credit. He is a marketing major.

Owens who is taking a sabbatical leave for a semester of study and observation abroad.

Dr. Gibson joined the EMU faculty in 1956. He received his BA degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1934, his MA from Oklahoma in 1936, and his PhD from the University of California in 1952.

The Regents also named one of the two new residence halls in honor of Genevieve M. Walton, former head librarian at EMU.

Miss Walton was born in 1857 and died in 1932. She served in the EMU library from 1892 to 1932 when she retired as head librarian.

As head librarian in 1930, Miss Walton was responsible for the planning of the Mark Jefferson Library which was hailed at the time as the finest facility of its kind in the country. The Mark Jefferson Library was retired from active service during the semester break. The new University Library is scheduled to open tomorrow.

The Genevieve M. Walton Residence Hall is one of two new halls scheduled to be opened for occupancy in the fall. These two halls will complete EMU's second residence hall complex. The complex, composed of four residence halls and a dining commons, is being built at a total cost of $5.4 million, and will house a total of 1200 students. Two of the residence halls, Phelps and Sellers, are already in use.

Chicago To Host Job Conference

Seniors may still sign up for the American Marketing Association's Chicago job-opportunities conference titled INTRO '67.

Choir Sings On 800 Mile Tour

The 80-member Eastern Michigan University Choir left Ypsilanti last Thursday to begin a six-day, 800-mile tour of upper Michigan, giving concerts in 10 communities.

Traveling by bus, the students visited Howell, Spring Lake, Maple City, Traverse City, Grayling, Cheboygan, Boyne City and Alcona before returning Tuesday.

Concerts were given to high school assemblies and to the public. Blaine Ballard, associate professor of music and director of the choir, said that the tour is intended to expose high school choirs to more advanced choral works and techniques.

While in Traverse City and Cheboygan the Choir members were given free time during which they could visit the local ski areas.

Bach, Schutz, Bruckner, Roren, Milhaud, Hindemith and Britten are among the composers whose works the Choir performed.

The tour follows a series of one-day tours which the Choir has taken during the past months in lower Michigan and Ohio. The Choir also performed with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra in a Christmas concert.

current affairs quiz

Time magazine generally tests the public's knowledge of world affairs and domestic happenings around this time of year. The challenge from this national magazine inspired the Echo to devise a local current affairs test for Eastern students.

Answer honestly and frankly.

1) True or false. Men's Union exists.

2) The Associated Women Students is best described as
   a. an oligarchy
   b. a women's governing body
   c. a stamp pad
   d. all of the above
   e. none of the above

3) The President of Eastern Michigan University is
   a. Dr. Eugene Elliott
   b. Dr. Clark Kerr
   c. Dr. Steven Landers
   d. Dr. Harold Sponberg

4) Name one Student Council representative.

5) Eastern's admissions policy is
   a. open-ended
   b. probably open-ended
   c. seemingly open-ended
   d. something we don't talk about in the Echo

6) Steve Landers can best be described as
   a. the Student Council President
   b. handsome and eligible
   c. flunking out
   d. determined

7) True or false. Eastern Michigan University was annexed with Ypsilanti during last November's elections.

8) Union cokes are
   a. only a dime
   b. watered down
   c. probably going up in price because the bookstore is losing business
   d. a symbol of courage

9) The Eastern Echo is a sterling example of journalism par excellence. True or false.

10) Cassius Clay
   a. is the greatest fighter since Frank Bolling
   b. should get drafted (in the North Viet Nam forces)
   c. has nothing to do with an EMU current affairs test
   d. cleans tables in the Union

(Answers on page 17 . . . anyone who thinks he has them all right is a rate-buster, a fink, and probably sets curves in his classes . . .)

daily dilemma . . .

The Publications Board at the University of Michigan has filed a complaint and asked for an investigation of the Michigan Daily. The Senate Advisory Committee on University Affairs (SACUA) will conduct the inquiry.

According to the motion passed unanimously by the Board, the paper is to be reviewed objectively by an outside board.

The problem seems to be that the Board, an overseer of the Daily, had been pressured into action against the paper because of adverse reactions to the paper's editorial policies.

The latest of these surges of hard feelings came after the Daily editorial board advocated the legalization of drugs. Editorial sentiment has also run strongly against the draft.

It is unfortunate that the Board cannot brush off the pressure with the secure knowledge that the Daily is one of the best and most respected university papers in the nation and has prided itself of "seventy-six years of editorial freedom."

When the Daily bows to public sentiment and loses its courage to dissent, when it prints what is pleasing to read and not what its editors truly believe, when it develops the mind of the general masses and loses its ability to appraise fairly and forcefully, then, and only then, should the Board demand an investigation.

leadership lag . . .

The Leadership Development Program, pride of the Office of the Dean of Students, is looking for potential leaders. Freshmen and sophomores who stand on the brink of campus leadership are being offered a golden opportunity to develop their leadership potential.

James Mansfield, counselor in the Dean of Students Office who is co-ordinating the program, has stated, "We would like to take the student with few skills and little experience and give him a great deal of confidence in his ability to handle a leadership role."

Highly-esteemed guest speakers have been recruited to give their time and effort to make the program a hard-hitting, worthwhile experience. According to Mansfield, "We will have no banquets. All money is going into a competent, professional staff. Highly qualified people like these don't get interested unless it's an exciting program."

The program is made to order for organizations interested in grooming their freshmen and sophomore members for key leadership positions. The program will serve as a type of farm system; it will educate the beginner.

Independent students can also benefit. They may listen to speakers who are experts in their fields, engage in intensive discussion with campus leaders, observe campus government in action, and decide which phase of government is best suited to their interests and abilities.

The speakers, the weekend retreat at Camp Tecumseh, the discussion-filled hours over coffee cups, await the program participants.

Future leaders of Eastern, where are you?

Applications are still available.

the beat goes on. . .

Many little intricate factors separate excellent newspapers from those that serve only as garbage pail liners. Money, or lack of it is an indisputable factor.

The size and quality of the university is another.

The history of the paper, the strength of its editorial freedom, and the quality of its editors is also essential.

But a paper only advances from its garbage pail status when it gets a full, enthusiastic staff of reporters.

If the Echo had one reporter for every fifty complaints about lack of coverage from student organizations, the situation would be rosy.

If one student volunteered to critique a play, it would off-set the dozen who holler holy hell when a review offends them.

If a lone reporter ran in breathlessly with a story that he had investigated and created himself, life would be a delight at 432 Forest Avenue.

But the beat goes on . . .

We are asking interested reporters (feature, news, beat, reviewers, fools, etc.) to meet with us tonight or Sunday night in the Echo office from 6:30 to 9:00 or any portion thereof.

Bluntly and briefly we state our case to all those who spend endless hours complaining that they could write better than the Echo editor left-handed: Put up or shut up.

Thank you.

Letter Policy Spelled Out

The editorial policy concerning letters to the editor is as follows:

1) No letter should be submitted that runs longer than ten inches, or approximately 35 type-written lines. If a longer letter is sent in, we reserve the right to reduce it.

2) All letters must bear a signature and student number. If the writer wishes to use a psuedo-name in the paper, he should specify thusly. A letter with no signature will be disregarded.

3) Letters to the editor are not published automatically; they are subject to the judgment of the editors.

Letters to the Editor

egghead emu

To the Editor:

Contrary to what Mr. Lampron would have the readers of the Echo believe, there were some people who did enjoy EMU's production of "The Adding Machine". There were some people who understood the term expressionism and who went to the production to experience the expressionistic theatre, not sit in judgement of its already established "worth".

It was rumored that EMU did not yet have the capacity to appreciate "egghead" drama, and it seems Mr. Lampron's article would have us believe this is true.

If Mr. Lampron was offended by the "much too obvious symbolism", then I can see he would be in no mood to appreciate the element of Shavian-type humor that underscored much of the play. But I suppose our lives are much too dignified to reflect upon the "triteness" of Zero's existence. Then again, I guess the problems of religious and racial minorities and discrimination are a thing of the last generation and of no importance today.

This is a play of ideas, not actions. We must remember that we are looking at life as Zero sees it, and if the climax of his life is reached in the second scene we must not confuse this with the dramaturgy. And if you believe Rice's explaination of the after-life is "trite", and it probably carries as much validity as any of the others we are offered.

I agree with much of Lampron's evaluation of the acting. Mr. Byrd and his troupe deserve our highest admiration. This excellent acting combined with the fact the play is a classic of the expressionistic school could only result in success.

If it did not "please" the audience it is because their narrow scope excludes everything but romantic melodrama or because they did not have the motivation to find out what to expect. In any case they deserve their dissatisfaction.

I believe Mr. Lampoon is maligning the character of the student body at EMU by allowing his readers to think the play was totally unappreciated. There are many who thank the drama department for trying to compliment the intelligence of the EMU students. Thank you, re-election for steve?

John Fisher

To the Editor:

Why is President Landers so hesitant when it comes to taking action or making a decision?

Is it because he is looking thoroughly into the subject at hand, using all of his resources, (the kids on council, the committee chairmen, the friendly administrators, and the "facts of life" as they really are on this campus,) or because he would rather not trust the fate of the University in anyone else's hands?

Maybe he's afraid of a revolution or something, because of all of the early campaigning that has been going on lately.

Hmmmm....does Steve plan on running for re-election? Maybe I'll ask Jad sometime, at least he knows what's happening.

Ed.

To the Editor:

As a former student of Eastern Michigan University who also has attended two other universities, I would like to go on record that the under-graduate physical education program at EMU is intolerable.

When will those in charge "wake-up" to the world around them? For example, when will academic credit be offered for activity courses? Why not teach the courses well so that we can become expert teachers? Why not keep the facilities open for individual work? Why not provide someone for the students to talk to?

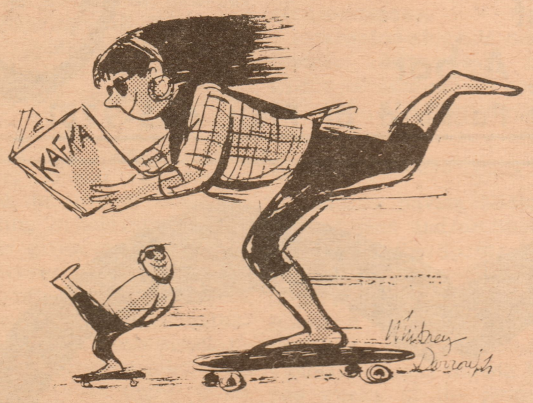
STAMP OUT YOUNG LOVE

It happens every day. A young man goes off to college, leaving his home town sweetheart with vows of eternal love, and then he finds that he has outgrown her. What, in such cases, is the honorable thing to do?

Well sir, you can do what Crunch Sigafoos did.



When Crunch left his home in Cut and Shoot, Pa., to go off to a prominent midwestern university (Florida State) he said to his sweetheart, a wholesome country lass named Mildred Bovine, "My dear, though I am far away in college, I will love you always. I take a mighty oath I will never look at another girl. If I do, may my eyeballs parch and wither, may my viscera writhe like adders, may my ever-press slacks go baggy!"

Then he clutched Mildred to his bosom, flicked some hayseed from her hair, planted a final kiss upon her fragrant young skull, and went away, meaning with all his heart to be faithful.

But on the very first day of college he met a coed named Irmgard Champerty who was studded with culture like a ham with cloves. She knew verbatim the complete works of Franz Kafka, she sang solos in stereo, she wore a black leather jacket with an original Goya on the back.

Well sir, Crunch took one look and his jaw dropped and his nostrils pulsed like a bellows and his kneecaps turned to sorghum. Never had he beheld such sophistication, such intellect, such savoir faire. Not, mind you, that Crunch was a dolt. He was, to be sure, a country boy, but he had a head on his shoulders, believe you me! Take, for instance, his choice of razor blades. Crunch always shaved with Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, and if that doesn't show good sense, I am Rex the Wonder Horse. No other blade shaves you so comfortably so often. No other blade brings you such facial felicity, such epidermal elan. Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades take the travail out of shaving, scrap the scrape, negate the nick, peel the pull, oust the ouch. Furthermore, Personnas are available both in double-edge style and in injector style. If you're smart —and I'm sure you are, or how'd you get out of high school —you'll get a pack of Personnas before another sun has set.

But I digress. Crunch, as we have seen, was instantly smitten with Irmgard Champerty. All day he followed her around campus and listened to her talk about Franz Kafka and like that, and then be went back to his dormitory and found this letter from his home town sweetheart Mildred:

Dear Crunch:

Us kids had a keen time yesterday. We went down to the pond and caught some frogs. I caught the most of anybody. Then we hitched rides on trucks and did lots of nutsy stuff like that. Well, I must close now because I got to whitewash the fence.

Your friend,
Mildred

P.S.... I know how to ride backwards on my skateboard.

Well sir, Crunch thought about Mildred and then he thought about Irmgard and then a great sadness fell upon him. Suddenly he knew he had outgrown young, innocent Mildred; his heart now belonged to smart, sophisticated Irmgard.

Being above all things honorable, he returned forthwith to Cut and Shoot, Pa., and looked Mildred straight in the eye and said manlily, "I do not love you any more. I love another. You can hit me in the stomach all your might if you want to."

"That's okay, hey," said Mildred amiably. "I don't love you neither. I found a new boy."

"What is his name?" asked Crunch.

"Franz Kafka," said Mildred.

"I hope you will be very happy," said Crunch and shook Mildred's hand and they have remained good friends to this day. In fact, Crunch and Irmgard often double-date with Franz and Mildred and have barrels of fun. Franz knows how to ride backwards on his skateboard one-legged.

A better idea never came out of a crystal ball

At Ford Motor Company we're always looking for better ideas. But not with a crystal ball.

We do it with background and brain.

We do it by seeking answers for down-to-earth questions such as: Should a profitable central city dealership be relocated to a growing suburban location? What's the sales potential for a new personal car?

And we do it by trying to solve problems that haven't been faced till now. Problems such as: Is an electric car the answer to city traffic? How will people travel in the year 2000?

In short, our better ideas come from better people. And we take extra steps to get them. Ford Motor Company has a College Graduate Program which provides immediate opportunities for individual development. In our rotational assignment system graduates are assured broad training and constant visibility to management. Right now, new products, new marketing programs, new subsidiary operations here and abroad are creating new jobs. One could be yours.

For more information, write our College Recruiting Department. Or better yet, schedule an appointment through your placement office to talk with our representative. He'll be on campus soon—looking for better people with better ideas.

585 Graduates Receive Diplomas

Eastern Michigan University awarded degrees to 585 students at its mid-winter Commencement exercises, held Jan. 22.

Included were nine specialist in education degrees, 134 master of arts degrees, six master of business administration degrees and 432 bachelor's degrees.

Of the 585 students receiving degrees, 569 were Michigan residents, with 15 coming from other states and one from Canada.

Featured speaker at the Commencement was the Very Rev. Malcolm Carron, S.J., president of the University of Detroit. Fr. Carron told graduates, "No other generation has shown a healthier concern or a greater awareness of the problems of society than yours has."

Graduates, he said, must use their education to "build an ordered life, free from fears, with enough happiness so that you will have some left over to share with your fellow man."

"If you haven't learned it already, you will soon know that the only kind of failure worth being concerned about -- and unfortunately, it is most common -- is failure as a human being."

Fr. Carron added, "You are graduating at a time when a new humanism is sweeping our nation and, indeed, the world. More and more, people are ready to throw open the doors which have separated men from each other for too many years...you have given evidence of your committment to education to freedom--to your fellow man.

"Let me conclude by saying that you have, as Frost said, '...miles to go...' before you will make good all of your promises. But I am completely confident that you will make the journey because the promises you have made are worth keeping."

These programs are designed so as not to interfere with the students normal course of study. They are open to full-time students and graduates in good standing with the university.

In the programs there is no on-campus participation and all time spent in the program counts as longevity for pay purposes.

'... Strength of Paul Bunyan, The Beauty of Venus de Milo ...'

On March 14 the Tower will be 86 years old. Historically and traditionally, it has become a part of Eastern.

It stands with the size and strength of Paul Bunyan, the beauty of Venus deMilo, the endurance of an Egyptian pyramid, the elegance of a Victorian queen, and the mystery of an ancient shrine.

It is owned by the city, but students like to call it their own.

W.R. Coats, a water systems expert, proposed his plans for the start of Ypsilanti's water system in June of 1889. The plans called for a "Standpipe", 175 feet tall, to be located at the junction of Cross and Washtenaw, the City's highest point of elevation. The City purchased the land for $800.

In the year and a half after the land purchase, the tower was constructed. All the work was done by day labor. Pipes were laid to all parts of the City and fire hydrants put in. The foundation was formed with blocks weighing from one to ten tons. The exterior was constructed with Joliet stone which was shipped in from Indiana. Steel "I" beams were set in the stones at the top, and the tank was installed.

On March 14, 1891, the "water works" were given their first test. The trial was held at the Cross Street bridge where a valve in the main line was opened. The spray shot one hundred feet into the air. It even had a rainbow.

A dog that tried to bite the spray was thrown back by the force. The water was excellent and some fantastic cures of kidney disease were reported.

Today the Tower stands 127 feet tall. (Mr. Coats' dimensions were reduced.) The stone wall stands 90 feet high with a 27 foot tank, and a 10 foot shingled roof.

The tank holds 250,000 gallons of water which is used throughout the city. The stones near the bottom are three feet, four inches thick, and at the top they are two feet thick. A U.S. Geological Marker is set in the stone on the north side which gives the elevation above sea level, 707 feet.

Another unusual feature is the radio transmitting equipment which is housed in the top of the Tower. It is used by the Ypsilanti police. It was formerly also used by passing airplanes.

The edifice is one of the most phenominal structures ever built in that it contains no steel supports.

The total cost of the Tower itself was $21,378.63. As a campus tradition, and a community landmark, it is worth ten times that much.

(Special thanks to the Ypsilanti Press, Ann Arbor News, and City Utilities Department for their help.)

As long as the tower still stands, anyone who has the stamina to climb to the top, can see this sweeping view of Cross Street.
photos by Howie Warren

The view from the top of the tower shows a scene of snow-covered buildings and a serene campus.

Corps Tests in Spring

Peace Corps placement tests will be given at Eastern Michigan University April 24 and May 6 to anyone interested in becoming a volunteer.

Tests, to be given in Starkweather Hall at 10 a.m., are non-competitive and are designed to match an applicant's capabilities with an appropriate overseas assignment. The tests measure language-learning ability to determine whether an applicant can be trained in a new language or should be assigned to an English-speaking project.

The most important factor in the selection of volunteers is not the test, but the questionnaire which must be completed before the test is taken.

Those interested can obtain an application from Dr. William C. Lawrence, vice president for student affairs, who is Peace Corps liaison at Eastern.

FINANCIAL AID REQUIREMENTS, 1967-68

Currently enrolled students who plan to apply for financial aid for the 1967-68 University year, must (1) file an application for the type of aid desired and (2) submit a copy of the College Scholarship Service Parents' Confidential Statement if they expect to receive one or more of the following types of financial aid:

National Defense Student Loan

Regular Board of Regents or other University scholarships where need is a factor

Economic Opportunity Grants

Economic Opportunity Act College Work-Study Program

Since the Parents' Confidential Statement must be sent to the College Scholarship Service for need analysis, and awards for the 1967-68 University year will be granted during the 1967 Spring Semester, students who have not previously filed the Parents' Confidential Statement with the University are urged to act promptly.

Students who have previously submitted the Parents' Confidential Statement are not required to submit the Parents' Confidential Statement Renewal Form; however, they must file an application for the type of aid desired.

For families with incomes of $4,000 or less, a simplified "Short Form" version of the Parents' Confidential Statement may be used.

Parents' Confidential Statement forms may be obtained from the Office of Admissions and Financial Aids, Room 113, Pierce Hall.

Greek Theatre Given Assistance

The Ypsilanti Greek Theatre, produced last year on the campus of Eastern Michigan University, may not be wealthy but it can hardly feel unloved.

The Governor of the State of Michigan proclaimed this week, February 6th through 13th, as Ypsilanti Greek Theatre week. It is the first such gubernatorial proclamation to honor the theatre alone and separately, and probably the first time any theatre has been so honored in Michigan. Last year the Greater Michigan Foundation unanimously selected the Ypsilanti Greek Theatre as the finest community achievement of the year.

The week got off to a glamorous start for theatre officials as they greeted Princess Irene of Greece at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport Sunday evening. The theatre does not now have a winter season, but her Royal Highness was presented with a large color photograph of the festival theatre, flowers, and a brief history of the institution, which sprang to world prominence in a single season last summer.

The colorful structure resulted from the stunning conversion of the Walter O. Briggs Baseball Stadium on the EMU campus in Ypsilanti.

Meanwhile, the ranks of grass roots supporters of the much-praised but financially embattled theatre continues to swell. A high school Latin Club held a benefit dance and contributed the profits of twenty-five dollars. Another group of high school students is planning a benefit sponsored by their United Nations Study Club. Still another group of teenagers is attempting to organize a fund drive among teen contributors.

A Women's Committee group joined with the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company to hold a benefit Greek cooking demonstration at which Greek cook books were also sold.

Dance studios in the area will give two theatre benefit performances of "La Boutique Fantasque" choreographed by Marjorie Randazzo, Sunday afternoon, March 5th. The Women's Committee is assisting in the ballet's promotion and ticket sales.

The Gilbert and Sullivan Society of the University of Michigan has offered to do a preview performance of its next production, "Patience," as a benefit for the theatre.

A classics club in Simcoe, Ontario, will dedicate to the theatre the proceeds from their opening night performance of "Antigone" which they will open on February 10th. Similar plans are being made by several other artistic organizations.

Membership fees and small donations continue to flow into the theatre office.

A three production festival to begin in late June is planned by the theatre for the coming season.

Hurons Bomb Albion, Lose To ELU

Have Bad Game In Fourth Loss

by Hump Worth

Eastern Michigan's cagers playing a rare game during exams ran up a 85-67 conquest of Albion before loosing their fourth encounter in 17 games to Eastern Illinois 92-81.

The Huron quintet journeyed down to Albion and played a game quite typical of their earlier encounter with Albion. Albion using the same starters could not shake the Hurons press and driving back court techniques. The game was unique in the fact that two Huron freshmen, Harvey Marlatt and Jesse Evans hit their game highs, 25 and 17 respectively, to lead all scorers.

The Eastern Illinois game was a horse of a different color, however, as Eastern seemingly dulled by the week layoff played a sloppy game marred by five Hurons fouling out. The fouls were enough to defeat the Hurons as Eastern Illinois hit a fantastic 889 (40-45) from the charity stripe.

Tug Bowens absence was noticeably felt as Jesse Evans, a forward, was forced to start in the pivot slot and Harvey Marlatt, normally a guard, moved up to forward position. With these players working from strange positions the team never seemed to click although the Hurons were able to outscore Eastern Illinois at the bucket. Rick Schmidt lead all Eastern scorers with 16.

With the first semester over, Eastern faces a battery of three successive challenging teams. Eastern faced an Ohio Northern team who beat them earlier, last night with Tug Bowens seeing court action again. Saturday night they are home against Western Illinois who bring two highly rated guards, Harwell and Anderson into Bowen field house. From there it is on to Mt. Pleasant on Tuesday night where the Hurons will play to win the one they want the most. Central Michigan at 13-2 is the only state team that holds a better record than Eastern and the Hurons will be driving for an upset on the Chippewa home court.

Gymnists Unbeaten

Coach Marv Johnson's gymnastic team extended their unbeaten string to 11 straight after taking five victories on their tour through Illinois during the semester break.

The Huron victims were Indiana State (162-150), Illinois-Chicago Circle (155-142), George Williams (155-111), University of Chicago (168-104), and Eastern Illinois (168-143).

Johnson stated that the entire tour was a "fine team effort. The boys did everything I asked of them...and more."

As usual, Jim Arnold paced Eastern as he competed in all events. Arnold was especially splendid in the Eastern Illinois meet as he scored the highest individual point total of his career here at Eastern.

This Friday, the unbeaten string is expected to end as the Hurons take on their neighbors from the University of Michigan.

"We know that we can't beat Michigan," commented Johnson, "but we have it in our minds that we will try to score 170 points against them. They are one of the top two or three teams in the country and are favorites to take the Big Ten title.

Tankers Take Two Fall To Wildcats

During the semester break, the Eastern Michigan tankmen ran their winning streak to seven in a row, with impressive victories over North Central Illinois (83-21) and the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle (75-29), before succumbing to Big Ten opponent, Northwestern (70-34), in the final meet of their Chicago tour.

Coach Lewis was quite pleased with his team's performance in all three meets, and commented, "We swam very well, but Northwestern swam like Olympians." Although EMU gave a good account of themselves in the Northwestern meet, they could only come up with one first; Dennis Betts' victory in the 200-yd. breaststroke.

In the two earlier meets, Eastern dominated the swimming, dropping only two events in each contest. Against Chicago Circle, Peter Dupon, Hazel Park sophomore who isn't around any more, set a Huron record with a time of 2:13.6 in the 200-yd. butterfly. The quaret of Gary Kressbach, lean backstroker from Monroe, Betts, Ted Blakeslee, conference butterfly champion from Birmingham-Seaholm, and Mike Tefft, tall sophomore from Ann Arbor, set a pool record of 3:55 in winning the 400-yd. medley relay.

The 400-yd. freestyle relay went to Al Saplys, Larry Thomas, a Dearborn-Robichaud man who was originally out for middle distance, Jeff Huxley, an Ypsi freshman, and Ted Wild, a well-built sophomore from Detroit-Osborn. The 100-yd. freestyle went to Rick Ausmus, young sprinter from Trenton, the 200-yrd. freestyle was taken by Huxley, while Kressbach won the 200-yd. backstroke and Tom Rice, who set a varsity record in a losing effort at Northwestern, took the 500-yd. freestyle. Betts, a veteran from Ypsi-Roosevelt, was again victorious in the 200-yd. breaststroke.

Firsts went to Ralph Richards, an upcoming freshman from Detroit-Mackenzie, in the 1000-yd. freestyle against both North Central and Chicago Circle, as little Mark Gibson from Grosse Pointe accomplished the same feat in diving.

In the meet with North Central Illinois, Jim Sieradzki, a strong swimmer from Warren, took firsts in the 50 and 500-yd. freestyle. Saplys, who was once a butterfly man at Hazel Park, won the 100-yd. freestyle, Dan Siupik, a strong intermediate man from Dearborn-Edsel Ford, was first in the 200-yd. individual medley, and Ausmus took the 200-yd. freestyle.

The Huron swimmers will be at home this weekend to take on Albion at 7:00 on Friday night, and Illinois State at 2:00 Saturday afternoon.

Wrestlers Downed Twice

The Huron matmen met two mid-American Conference teams over the semester break but came out on the short end both times as they were tumbled by Toledo 22-11 and lost a close one to Ohio University 19-15.

The double losses evened their season dual meet record at 4-4.

"We were flat against Toledo," explained Coach Russ Bush, "probably because we met them right after final exams were over. But against Kent State, the boys put on their best performance to date."

In the Ohio University meet, Eastern was hampered without Gary Avery who wrestles in the 130 lb. class. Avery recurred a hernia injury and will be lost to the Hurons the rest of the season.

This Saturday the Hurons will tangle with another MAC opponent, Kent State, in a home meet scheduled to get underway at four in the afternoon.

"Kent beat Ohio University (17-15) the day after Ohio U. beat us. So they will be tough. With Avery gone we will have to adjust our weights for Saturday's meet."

The following are the results of the Ohio University meet:

Sports Profile Tuggles Bowen

by larry hill sports reporter

One of the bright spots in the Eastern Michigan sports picture this year has been the play of 6-5, 225 pound center of the Huron cagers, Tug Bowen.

Tug has led the Hurons in scoring and rebounding this year besides being the team leader on and off the court. "Tug has played very well so far, but he is improving every ball game," cage Coach Jim Dutcher said of Tug's play.

Tug, who is nearing 27 years of age, has bounced around the country, and has finally found his home here at Easter. He previously attended a junior college in South Carolina before coming to Michigan in 1963, and making his home in Ann Arbor.

Tug, an only child, was born and raised in Alabama, and attended school there. He was not able to play basketball at Western Olin High School, because, as he said, "I lived on the wrong side of town."

Asked why he came to Michigan to attend college, Tug replied: "I found that Michigan offered the best education, and that's what I want -- an education."

However, Tug seems to mix studying for his physical education degree with basketball quite well. In fact, throughout his life he has had a great love for basketball. While in high school, even though he couldn't play varsity ball, he continually worked at the game.

He further explained: "When I was in school, I sometimes played basketball for six or seven hours at a time. Bernard Thomas, a player at the high school, used to stay with me, and he helped me more than any other person has ever helped me."

When Tug stayed in Ann Arbor, he played basketball in a YMCA league for two years, leading the league in scoring in his second year and finishing second in the scoring race in his first year. Ex-University of Michigan star Cazzie Russell and another former Wolverine John Thompson talked Tug into attending Eastern.

"I didn't feel that I should attend a school where the basketball team (referring to the University of Michigan) was already established," Tug explained. "I wanted to come to Eastern because its team was starting to really get going."

Tug's switch to college basketball was relatively hard for him. "When in college, the stakes are much higher," he said. "There is more organization."

Tug is easy to pick out on the basketball floor with the wad of bubble gum (he says it relaxes him) in his mouth, and his long, lanky frame hanging near the basket. He says defense is his best aspect of his game because he likes to stay near the basket and block the shot or pick up a small guard roving in. Coach Dutcher disagreed with him: "The worst part of Tug's game is his defense. He can shoot well and rebound, but he has to work on defense."

Tug seems to excel at everything he does. He worked for everything he has right now, and he hopes to build on the foundation he has laid. Before every game he prepares himself mentally for at least five hours. "The physical preparation is left for the Coach to take care of," Tug said.

After Tug graduates, he hopes to work with problem boys, and do some teaching while settling down and continuing his life peacefully.

Right now Tug is proud to say that he played basketball with New York Knick star Cazzie Russell. When the present members of the Huron team leave, they will be even prouder to say that they played with a man with the determination of Tug Bowen.

Tug was just beginning to establish himself this year when shortly before the first Ohio Northern game his eligibility was questioned by Ohio Northern's athletic director.

The question arose over the word special event as transfer students are not allowed to participate in special events during their first semester at a new school. Frosty Ferzacca, Eastern's Athletic Director, interpreted special event as a holiday tournament while Ohio Northern claimed it meant any contest.

Coach Of Champions Momentarily Sidelined

Eastern Michigan's athletic program was nearly dealth a severe blow as George Marshall, the Huron's "coach of the year" was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor on Sunday, Jan. 22 with a severe case of virus infection.

Marshall, who was on the critical list for a few days, is reported to be feeling better as of the last report. As coach of the Huron track and cross country teams, Marshall has produced many fine individuals and built Eastern into a nationally recognized power.

Born in Logansport, Indiana on August 9, 1901, Marshall's family migrated to Michigan in his childhood. He graduated from Detroit's Eastern High School in 1920. He then entered EMU and completed his studies here in 1925.

He embarked upon his coaching career in 1928 as head mentor of the Huron frosh thinclads and stayed until 1933. After four years working in the Detroit school system, Marshall returned to his alma mater and assumed the position of assistant varsity track coach. Then in 1942 he was appointed head track coach, a position which still bears his name.

Q. I'm a fellow with a problem because I wear my hair long. I like to put my hair up in curlers at night so it will be looking sharp the next day. The problem is that my roommates are always hiding the curlers. I look stupid buying a bag of curlers every few days. How can I keep myself in curlers without getting dirty looks and going broke?

Luscious Larry

A. Get a haircut or hide them in your purse.

Q. Do you ever play monopoly?

Game Lover

A. Boardwalk, St. Charles, Free Parking, Chance, $200 for passing Go. No, I never play.

Q. I've been going steady with a handsome guy for three months. He hasn't kissed me yet. Yes, I do use a mouthwash. Why?

Gargler

A. Spit out the mouthwash.

Q. There's a certain blonde in a University office who I'd like to go out with. She always seems to have as many dates as she needs. Should I ask her anyway?

Mister

A. No girl ever has enough dates, but blondes do have more fun.

Q. Why doesn't Eastern have a skating rink?

Gordie How

A. There is a rink in the lot across from Downing. It's never shoveled, but that's beside the point.

Q. On page 16 of the last Echo there was a picture with the following caption: "Ten seconds after this picture was taken the photographer was smashed in the jaw." Why?

Snoopy

A. One second after the picture was taken the photographer ejected the flashbulb from his camera. Two seconds after the picture was taken, the still-hot flashbulb fell in the lap of a bystander. Four and one-half seconds after the picture was taken, the bystander noticed something wrong. One-half second later, he stood up abruptly. The flashbulb fell on the floor of the gymnasium in which a basketball game was in process, and a forward going in for a layup slipped on the bulb and knocked a nearby referee who fell against the photographer, smashing him in the jaw. Ten seconds later, the referee's wife, who also was wearing tennis shoes, slapped her husband because she thought the Echo photographer was cute.

Q. I have heard that Gov. Romney may be attending the Military Ball. Do you have any news on this?

Taxpaying Democrat

A. The kernel of the truth is that Romney heard that Sargeant Shriver made a general nusiance of himself at a military ball recently in Washington, and the Governor feels that all such affairs should be private in the future.

JAD'S BELIEVE IT....OR ELSE: Senior Dean Stanley is ecstatically over-joyed with the news of all the incoming freshmen girls. He now thinks he honestly has a chance. I don't.

Drug Usage Committee Prepares For Chicago

Four faculty and staff members as well as four Eastern Michigan students are preparing to attend the regional Drug Use and Abuse Conference to be held in Chicago from Feb. 19-21.

Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. William Lawrence, will head the Eastern delegation which is composed of Dr. Martha Verda of the Dean of Students Office, Dr. Olga Sirola, and Lt. Fuller of the campus police.

Tom Grunder, Diane Allevato, Jill Bader and Greg Kazmierski are the student committeemen. Sheriff Harvey, of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, and one of his deputies will also attend the conference.

Three hundred and fifty representatives from Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, and Ontario, Canada, will attend this Chicago meeting, one of seven such regional conferences to be held throughout the nation.

These regional seminars are an outgrowth of an earlier conference sponsored by the Treasury Department, the Food and Drug Administration, and the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators.

It is hoped that the participants at the regional level will hold similar conferences in their respective states, and that from this point the individual colleges and universities will establish campus organizations to disseminate educational drug information.

The main objective of this entire construct is to increase the number of people who know about drug use and abuse. A veil of myth and emotionalism seems to surround the drug topic. It is this veil that the Drug Use and Abuse Conference hopes to rend.
